AN IMPORTANT MOVEMENT TO ALLOW GERAT

BUSINESS HOUSES TO PROTECT THEMSELVES.

"Do you know," said a well-known insurance broker to a Tenuun reporter, "that there are many business concerns in this city which must either do without a large percentage of the insurance they need, or who are guilty of a misdemeanor in getting if the union of take steps to have the law passed last May repealed. E. R. Kennedy, of Weed & Kennedy, is at the head of the movement." The old law was passed at the suggestion of Superintendent McCall, of the Insurance Department. It provided that no insurance company organized under the laws of any other State business in this State until that compiled with the insurance laws of New-York. The fourth section reads as follows:

"Any agent, Divoker or person acting for humself or in behalf of any other person in soliciting or procuring policies or risks on property located in this State, or in any manner ading the transaction of business by any company that has neglected or refused to camply with this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mr. McCall's purpose was men found it impossible to procure the low mich more than this. A large number of business men found it impossible to procure the one of our mondition of this State. They had business under the laws of this State. They had business under the laws of this State. They had business under the laws of this State. They had business made the hance of a fire while insufficiently insured. This law, it is estimated, applies to five hundred Bruss in this city and Brooklyn alone. Though the law has been transacted here has been done in New Jersey in a clandestine way. Mr. Kennely said when inquiry was made about the matter: "Mr. McCall's object was good, but the scope of the measure was wider than could be seen at a giance, bethaps, and the results, if its provisions could be strictly enforced, would be most disastrous. The chief suderers are not insurance men. But this great business coverns of the city

CLAIMS OF CANAL COMMISSIONERS.

CLAIMS OF CANAL COMMISSIONERS.

The case of the property-owners along the line of the proposed Harlem River Canal against the claims of the commissioners appointed to estimate the value of the land occupied and the domages to it. came up before William Mitchell, the referee, at No. 41 Wall-st., vesterday. The commissioners are General William F. Smith, chairman, Mayor Grace and James P. Firh. The coairman claims $15,000 for his services and the other commissioners $10,000 cach. Last spring Judge Barrett appointed Mr. Mitchell referee to take testimony regarding those claims and others, including counsel fees of Lewis D. Lyon, $10,000; Thomas L. Ogdeu, $5,000, and Bernard Smith, as appraiser, $15,000. $5,000, and Bernard Smith, as appraiser, $15,000. The commissioners were represented by Benjamin D. Silbman and Frederick A. Ward, and the counsel for the property-owners were John C. Shaw, E. J. Meyers, Franklin Bartlett, Davies G. Crosby, Heary S. Cram, jr., Fordham Morris, William D. Peck and others.

[ieneral Smith and Mayor Grace gave testimony about the value of their services, the severity of the labor of the commission, the great demand on their time and the public importance of their work. Their counsel called as experts General Quincy A. Gilmore, Professor William T. Trowbridge, of Columbia College, and David Dudley Field, who gave testimony to establish the justness of the claim of $35,000. Opposed to them on behalf of the property-owners James A. Deering and Davies G. Crosby were sworn as experts, and testified that the services of the commissioners were worth about half as much as they claimed.

SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS' WORK.

The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund yesterday listened to the provisions of two bills intended gradually to extinguish the Sinking Fund. The first bill was presented and explained by ex-Alderman James W. Hawes. It was passed by the Lexislature last winter but failed to receive the approval of the Governor. It has been again introduced. His bill provides that no bonds or stocks hereafter issued shall be made payable from the Sinking Fund, and that city bonds purchased by the Sinking Fund Commissioners from time to time shall be cancelled, thereby reducing the fund until ultimately it shall be extinguished. He hoped the Commissioners would approve the bill. William H. Beers, from the Council of Political Reform, also presented a bill, which will be introduced in the Legislature. It provides for the creation of a new Sinking Fund for the redemption of the new Croton Aqueduct stock, soon to be issued.

CAPTAIN MCCULLAGH DENOUNCED.

The Board of Police vesterday sent to Superintendent Walling, for investigation, a letter from John Heinrichs, of No. 171 Orchard-st., in relation to the trouble in Concordia Hall on Monday night. He said in substance:

As the official representative of the Section New-York Socialistic Labor Party that called the meeting, I begine to submit the following facts: The object of the meeting was to protest against the recent dynamite explosions in London, and especially against the capitalistic press, which always on such occasions accuses the Socialists of these deeds, by wilfully and knowingly confounding the latter with these dynamiteurs and the socialists are a radical movement exists among the working class, such an attack by the police as was seen on Monday night, upon an assemblage with a large percentage of neutral spectators, women and enlidren, would be regarded as an unheard of brutality. No police officer would dare make such an assault upon an assemblage, even in the most critical moment. The history of the German Socialistic movement has no instance of a similar proceeding.

I, therefore, denounce Captain McCullagh, and accuse

German Socialistic movement has no instance of a similar proceeding.

I, therefore, denounce Captain McCullagh, and accuse him of breaking up a lawful meeting without being called for; of bratni assanit upon a large assemblage of persons who had come to protest against inhuman dynamite tactics, and such use of bratai power as practised by said Captain McCullagh, while a large body of men wearing badges had been organized to keep order during the meeting. I demand speedy and rigid investigation into the affair.

SEARCHING FOR PROF. DARLING'S WILL.

E. F. Underdill was occupied for several hours yesterday in searching the rooms of the late Professor William Darling, in the University Building, to ascertain if he left among his papers any will other than that bequeathing his property to Mrs. Amelia Delacroiex. A large number of letters, many documents, and all places, save the library in which such a document might have been placed, were thoroughly searched, yet no will was found. Mr. Underhill will examine the library which contains some 500 volumes, some day next week. He was aided by the lawyer interested in the case.

CAPTAIN PHELAN AT THE TOMBS.

Captain Phelan, who on January 9 was assaulted at the effice of O'Donovan kossa in Chambers-st. by Richard Short, was able to appear in the Tombs Police Court vesterday against his assailant. The court-room was full of dynamiteurs and members of the Fenian Brotherhood who had come in to get a look at the principals in the case. The captain was pale but walked with a firm step to the clerk's desk and made his statement. The prisoner was in a much better condition than when he was sent to the Tembs. His shabby suit had been replaced by a new one, and a beaver overcoat had been added to his wardrobe. He had gained at least ten pounds in flesh. When Captain Phelan had completed his statement, Justice Patterson said:

"Do you see the man in court who assaulted CAPTAIN PHELAN AT THE TOMBS.

Do you see the man in court who assaulted you i"
"That is the man," he replied, pointing his finger at Short who stood directly behind him.
"I shall have to hold you, Short, for examination," continued the Justice, "your bail is fixed at $3,000.

Captain Phelan turned to leave the stand and then came back again. "I should like to have you give me protection, Judge," he said, "as I am not safe from the attacks of that man and his friends." "I should be pleased to grant it but that is not within my jurisdiction. The police will look after you if you make the request at one of the precinct stations."

"If I could carry was you. I would defend stations."

"If I could carry weapons I would defend myself," said the captain as he left the court-room.
Sergeant Granger sent two of his officers with Phelan as an escort to his rooms. The dynamiteurs, among whom were "Rocky Mountain" O'Brien, John Brady and haif a dozen others, filed out into the street to see the party leave the building, but they were disappointed.

BRITISH DETECTIVES AFTER SHORT.

BRITISH DETECTIVES AFTER SHORT.

The statement was pub ished yesterday afternoon that a mysterious prisoner was held in the Tombs charged with some crime of great dimensions in Canada. He had fled from Quebee shortly after the explosious in London, and was suspected also of having an inside knowledge of that offence. Judge Chauveau, of Quebec, and a Scotland Yard detective were said to be in this city trying to secure his extradition.

xtradition.
Warden Finn, of the Tombs, said last night that if he had such a prisoner he was ignorant of the fact.

United States Marshal Henry L. Curtis said that when a prisoner is arrested at the instance of a foreign Government the warrant was usually placed in his hands. He had served no warrant and knew nothing of any such prisoner.

F. F. Marbury, the e-ausel who usually looks after the interests of the British Government in extradition cases, knew nothing of any such case.

An official at the Fombs said that Scotlard Yard detectives had been to the prison and the features of Dynamiteur Short had been scamed with a view to identifying him as being one of the principals in outrages committed in Ireland. It is even said that Short was engaged in the Phemix Park murders. It is certain that the British Government has evidence proving his connection with crimes in Ireland before he fled to this country and that an attempt has been made to secure evidence for the purpose of extraditing him.

TIME FURNISHED LIKE GAS OR WATER.

In the Welles Building in lower Broadway are the offices of the Standard Time Company. This company has been formed to supply time throughout the city as gas and water are supplied. The system is called hydro-pneumatic. There is to be a central station which will be connected by telegraph with some observatory. Then there will be sub-stations scattered over the city. A station consists of an apparatus about as large as a bookcase. There are all connected with the central station by telegraph. Pipes, smaller than a load pencil in circunaference, lead from each station to all of the clocks in the district which take the time. The mechanism of the central station moves once an hour and when it moves it sends an electric spark out to the other stations and they move. When the mechanism of one of these stations moves it forces compressed air through the pipes and every clock attached is wound up and regulated. The arrangement can be applied to any ordinary clock. In the office of the company are several dozen clocks, When a Tribune reporter was there yesterday the map in charge set the clocks at various times, some fast and some slow. Some were connected with the apparatus by a few yards of pipe, and some by a mile or more. When 3 o'clock approached some indicated 3:15 and some 2:45. The clock in the apparature registered 3, and with a sharp citek every one of the other clocks moved their hands so as to register the same time. This system has been in use in Paris and Vienna for several years. There are no sub-stations in those cities, however. TIME FURNISHED LIKE GAS OR WATER.

THE HOTEL BRUNSWICK FAILURE.

THE HOTEL BRUNSWICK FAILURE.

There was much talk about the hotels yesterday over the news of the assignment made by the proprietors of the Hotel Brunswick. In the opinion of those qualified to know, the general depression in business was the chief cause of the failure. The running expenses were enormous, nearly 300 recepte being employed in and about the hotel. The liabilities will probably amount to over $200,000, but it is thought the assets will fully cover this amount. There is wine worth over $30,000 in the cellars and the amounts owing to the firm are about $40,000. The lease of the improved property has sixteen years to run and is worth a large sum, as over half a million dollars were expended on the building. Mr. Kinz er sand vesterday:

"We had looked forward to the revival of basiness in the fall to set us straight, but instead of getting better it grew worse and worse. Out expenses are heavy, and we paid for the improvements and new buildings at the time they were made. It has kept us clear of merigare, but necessitated the sinking of a lorge amount of capital. The hotel business will be continued as usual for the present."

Assignee Southgate said that it would take him several days to examine the books and find out how the firm sto d. There was a romor yesterday that another uptown hotel had made an assignment, but inquiry proved that this was not the case. It is said, however, that the hotel in question may possibly close for a few months until the revival of business.

HOT WORDS BETWEEN SHARP AND FULLER. HOT WORDS BETWEEN SHARP AND FULLER.

The Broadway Railroad Commission costerday listened to testimony from Lawson N. Fuller, in favor of a cable railway. James Monteith, William, Haswell and Andrew L. Soulard all favored a cable railroad and thought that it should be compelled to carry passengers to the utmost limits of the city for five cents with free transfers thrown in. Professor J. W. Keilway, a mining engineer, told what he knew about the advantages of the cable roads in San Francisco and Chicago. Among the spectators was Jacob Sharp whom his counsel. O. E. Bright, invited Mr. Fuller to call as a witness. The invitation was not accepted. After the session Mr. Sharp and Mr. Fuller lad a lively discussion in winch the former using strong explicitives, declared that Mr. Fuller did not know anything about railroads. Mr. Fuller retorted that Mr. Snarp always opposed improvements and had taken ground against the elevated railroads before they were constructed.

ground against the elevated railroads before they were constructed.

"Yes," replied Mr. Sharp, "and you were paid for talking up the elevated railroads."

"Pil bet you $10,000 to $10," evied Mr. Fuller in excitement "that I never got a cent."

"Put up your money," shouted Mr. Sharp, taking a roll of bills from his pocaet.

"Pil give you a writing," said Mr. Fuller, turning to the table.

"I don't want any writing," replied Mr. Sharp, waving his bank-bills aloft. "Put up the money."

Mr. Fuller said that he would draw a cheek but Mr. Sharp said that would draw a cheek but Mr. Sharp said that would not do. After some further discussion, in which the two men disagreed at every point, they parted each apparently strengts seed in the views that he had been upholding.

Mrs. Max Rehfeld went to Police Headquarters yesterday and complained that her husband had deserted her. Before she was narried last November she kept a fancy goods store at No. 510 tenthave. Rehfeld was a penniless eigarmaker. Two days before the wedding day she entrusted her watch and $300 to his keeping. He kept the watch and sarest. Their difficulty was settled in a lawyer's office at a further exp use of $200 to her, and whea they were married, she foolishly signed over all her property to her husband. In January she learned that her husband was about to sell the stock in the store at auction, and in order to frighten him she threatmed to commit suicide. He caused her arrest on a charge of attempting to kill herself, and while she was locked up he sold the stock in the store, valued at $3,000, for $500. Then he took her to live at No. 200 East Thirty sixth-st., and pawned most of her clothing and jewelry on prefence of raising money chough to start a cigar store. He disappeared on luesday, leaving her entirely destinate. Mrs. Rehfeld said yesterday that the landlord No. 200 East Thirty-sixth-st. had ordered her to leave her rooms because she did not have money to pay the rent. She was told to apply to the Department of Charities and Correction for protection. BETTER TO HAVE LOST BEFORE SHE LOVED.

Justice White walked smilingly into the Harlem Police Court yesterday at half past 12 o'clock. Some fitteen or twenty persons who had been waiting for an hour and a half were not smiling, but no outward evidences of disapprobation were discernible. The Justice passed into his private room and the others followed. He sat down at the nead of a long table, complacently stroked his whiskers of English cut, and said: "Well." Ex. Judge Fuller ton pulled up a chair at the Justice's right, ran his fingers through his apares but curly locks and echoed the Justice's "Well." F. M. Dey, a young attorney from the City of Churches, took a chair at the other end of the table. He was supported by Connsellor Moran, late of Dublim. This array of legal talent was gathered byselne to determine, preliminarily, whether or not Patrick Rellian had been guilty of criminally libeling Fatrick Ford, Editor of The Irish World. Mr. Pullerton represented Ford, and Dey and Moran Rellihan.

Rellihan is a young man, and is the publisher and editor of a little paper called The Irish Liberator. It makes its appearance monthly. Prior to February 1, 1984, Rellihan was employed by Ford. The office of The Liberator was formerly at No. 12 Chambersst. Now it is peripatetic; it travels with the editor, who has standing room at O'Donovan Rossa's. When the Irish partics have nothing else fight they light among themselves; consequently the libel and the suit. The October edition of The Liberator was devoted entirely to Fatrick Ford, and gave an alleged history of his career. It charged him with having appropriated to his own use $32,000, a portion of a fund raised to defend O'Donnell, the assassin of Carey, and with being "a deserter from the Union Army, an inhidel, Free Mason, seducer, and political prostitute."

On a previous examination Mr. Ford denied all of the such as deserted and an outle of the United Proposition of the Liberator was deviced. He admitted writing the

A WATER STREET TEA PARTY.

Seven men veste day competed according to the most approved Civil Service reform methods for the position of tea inspector for this port. The salary is $2,500. The preliminary examination, on January 28, covered the general topics of the growth and handling of the tea crop, and was tried by iswenty men. Louis Sanliner, A. J. Pierson, Caleb T. Smith, W. H. Decker, Edward T. Young, W. H. McComber and Martin Gillet passed that successfully.

This quiet and business like teaparty was held in a room on the third floor of No. 106 Water-st. Each candidate sat before a circular revolving table, around the edge of which were ranged numerous cups filled with the mild intoxicant of the sewing circle and quilting party. By his side was an enermous cuspadore about two feethigh, whose constant use saved him from the consequences popularly supposed to follow the practice of mixing drinks. There were four questions about tea-grade, price, district where grown, and whether or not it should be rejected under the law—which had to be answered in the case of each one of the twenty samples. The house was crowded until 3 o'clock yesterday morning and it was some hours later before all the guests had left. Yesterday nearly two hundred additional names were put on the list of applicants for membership. There are now over six hundred waiting for admission. It is probable that in a few months the limit will be increased from 1,500 to 2,000, but the capacity of the club-house will be thoroughly tested before such a change is made. On Thursday night there were between 2,000 and 3,000 people present at one time. To-night the members will take actual possession and the symnasium will be practically tested. Before long it is intended to hold a second house-warming, when sparring, running, swimming and gymnastic exhibitions will be given.

Work of the American Bible Society on Thursday fistened to letters from the United States Consul at Laguayra, with thanks for a grant of Scriptures; from Mr. McKim, in Cuba, reporting a prosperous beginning of his work at Nuevita; from Mr. Forbes, of Honolulu, announcing the completion of the translation of the New Testament for the Marshall Islanders by Dr. Pease; from Mr. Hamilton, of Mexico, reporting the work of the agency for 1884, with a distribution of 13,187 volumes of Scripture by colportage and otherwise, and sending estimates and plans for the current year; from Mr. Loomis, of Japan, speaking of a general depression in all branches of trade, while religious work is the only thing that prospers; for that the whole outlook is hopeful; from Dr. Gulek, of China, forwarding the Gospels and Acts in Mandarin and English, and giving an account of a recent journey to Hong Kong; from Mr. Prince, of St. Petersburg, reporting what had been done in Siberia and the Caucasus, and mentioning the death of Prince Ovolensky, one of the vice-presidents of the Russian Bible Society; from Mr. Brown, of Brazil, with reports of colporteurs employed in that empire; from Mr. Milee, narrating the experience of the colporteurs whom he had sent to Bolivia last summer; and from Dr. Bilss, of Constantinople, written as he was about to embatk for Alexandria. Itching Diseases.

My gratitude to God is unbounded for the relief I have obtained from the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled with Eczema on my legs for twenty years. I had not a comfortable night for years, the burning and itching were as intense. Now, I am happy to say, I have no trouble.

Only the liver-colored patches on my limbs remain as a token of my former misery.
